ETHICAL

Tape to the wall at one end of the line

UNETHICAL

Tape to the wall at the other end of the line

IT DEPENDS

Optional: tape to the middle of the line

Line of Oaths scenario cards

Req 2b. Print on card stock and cut along the dashed lines. Read one card aloud at a time, then Wardens stand on the floor line where they think it belongs.

1 Unlocked laptop

A classmate leaves a laptop open in the library and steps away. It is logged into their game account. What do you do?

Stand on the line: Ethical ← It depends → Unethical

2 A password you can see

Your friend types a password while you sit next to them. You can see every letter. What do you do?

Stand on the line: Ethical ← It depends → Unethical

3 Not-secure website

You find a website with a warning that says it is not secure, and it asks for your name and address. What do you do?

Stand on the line: Ethical ← It depends → Unethical

4 A free-money bug

You discover a glitch in your favorite game that lets you give yourself unlimited coins. Everyone else is playing fair. What do you do?

Stand on the line: Ethical ← It depends → Unethical

5 Mystery USB drive

You find a USB drive in the parking lot with a label that says "Photos". Do you plug it into your computer to see whose it is?

6 Embarrassing photo

A classmate posts an embarrassing photo of someone else in a group chat. People are laughing and sharing it. What do you do?

Stand on the line: Ethical ← It depends → Unethical

7 The sibling prank

Your friend wants to log into their sister's account to change her profile picture "as a joke" and asks you to help guess her password. What do you do?

Stand on the line: Ethical ← It depends → Unethical

8 Neighbor's open Wi-Fi

Your neighbor's Wi-Fi has no password. Your own internet is down and you want to finish your homework. Do you connect?

Stand on the line: Ethical ← It depends → Unethical

Instructor key: Line of Oaths

Suggested discussion points only. Wardens may reasonably disagree, and the reasoning matters more than the spot. Ask one Warden on each side to defend, then ask a Warden in the middle what would tip them.

Scenario	Suggested spot and why	Scout Law ties	Coaching notes
1. Unlocked laptop	Ethical to lock it or tell the owner. Unethical to look around or prank.	Trustworthy, Helpful, Courteous	Leave it alone. Lock it, or tell the owner or an adult.
2. A password you can see	Ethical to look away and tell them to change it. Unethical to use it.	Trustworthy, Loyal, Kind	Never use a password you were not given, even if you remember it.
3. Not-secure website	Ethical to leave and tell an adult or the site owner. Unethical to experiment with it.	Trustworthy, Obedient, Helpful	Do not enter personal information. Watch for Wardens who say "it is fine, it is just a name".
4. A free-money bug	Report it to the game company. Unethical to exploit it, even if "everyone would". This is how responsible reporting works.	Trustworthy, Brave, Helpful	Some Wardens will say it depends on whether the game is competitive. Ask how it affects other players.
5. Mystery USB drive	Ethical to hand it in to a lost-and-found or an adult. Plugging it in is a security risk and snooping.	Trustworthy, Helpful, Clean	Introduce the idea that malware can hide on USB drives. Do not plug it in.
6. Embarrassing photo	Unethical to share or laugh along. Ethical to not forward it, support the person and tell a trusted adult.	Kind, Courteous, Brave	Ask what "Kind" looks like when everyone else is laughing.
7. The sibling prank	Unethical. Logging into another person's account without permission is wrong even as a joke, and may break the law.	Trustworthy, Obedient, Loyal	Ask what could go wrong: lost account, hurt feelings, trouble with parents.
8. Neighbor's open Wi-Fi	It depends. Using someone's network without permission is risky. Ask first, or use a safer option.	Trustworthy, Obedient, Courteous	Great for the IT DEPENDS middle of the line. Let Wardens argue both sides.

- Setup: tape a 12-foot line on the floor. Put ETHICAL at one end and UNETHICAL at the other.
- Pace: about 1 minute per card. The class plan reads three cards in 4 minutes. Use the extras if time allows or as a bonus round.
- Points: +1 per Warden who gives a clear reason, +1 teamwork if a lodge stays together and explains why.
- Req 2b: Wardens discuss ethical and unethical online behavior, including an unlocked device, a seen password and an insecure website, and explain why judgment matters.
